BY A RUNAWAY.

A Man Who Neither Drinks, Smokes Nor Frequents the Gambling Room

Lexington, Ky., July 9.—Wm. Goebel, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Kentucky, is the most remarkable politician in the State. He has more than 100,000 votes in the State, and he is a man who neither drinks, smokes nor frequents the gambling room.

He does not smoke or drink. He is the enemy of the trusts and corporations.

So unlike the ways of men these days he keeps up his head mother's membership in the church to which he belonged.

Mr. Goebel has a college education. He has been the active partner of two of the greatest lawyers of recent times in Kentucky. He does not gamble and is the author of the law making gambling a felony in the State. All politicians admit that he has more brains than any man prominent before the Kentucky public.

Mr. Goebel was born in Pennsylvania thirty-eight years ago, and was removed when a child of four years with his parents to Lexington, Ky., where he has lived ever since. He received his education in the public schools of Covington, and then read law with ex-Governor John W. Stevenson. He showed such marked ability that Gov. Stevenson took him as a law partner, and this partnership was continued until the death of the governor, who made Mr. Goebel his executor without bond. He left a large estate and the young attorney administered it in the most satisfactory manner.

A Total Abstainer.

There say that Goebel is a total abstainer, that he never drinks intoxicants at any time. We do not know if this be true or not, but it is agreed that he is a temperate man in this regard. But the strange part of it is that, this appears to be made as a charge against him by his enemies, accompanied by the further charge that he is a man of such cold unsympathetic disposition that he hates intoxicants. We don't know anything of Goebel's personality except as the papers, friend and foe paint it, but it is wondrous that if he is such a cold selfish negative character as represented by enemies that he excites such great devotion on the part of his friends, and such bitter animosity on the part of his enemies. Cold, selfish characters generally do not thus move their fellow men.

He does not smoke or drink. He is the enemy of the trusts and corporations.

So unlike the ways of men these days he keeps up his head mother's membership in the church to which he belonged.

Mr. Goebel has a college education. He has been the active partner of two of the greatest lawyers of recent times in Kentucky. He does not gamble and is the author of the law making gambling a felony in the State. All politicians admit that he has more brains than any man prominent before the Kentucky public.

Friendly to Railroads.

Railroads are not only important but absolutely indispensable to the prosperity and development of any country, and no sane man could or would oppose railroads per se. But good citizens may, and do, oppose the policy of railroad companies which abuse the charter privileges conferred upon them by the laws of the country. The same is true of Banks, and the aggregation of capital in other corporate institutions. All such should be encouraged, fostered and protected; and this means that they should be given any and every privilege that the law confers on any and every other person, no more and no less. If a person invades the rights of another, or seeks to selfishly escape his share of the burdens of government, or to shirk his part of public duty, then the law should regulate and condemn. The same is true of persons known in law as corporations, and people who favor same rule being applied to them as to individuals are not to be denounced as enemies of "corporations" or as anarchists who want to destroy all capital. Such talkers are enemies themselves to corporations in causing the public to believe that the corporations they represent are trying to escape and thereby throw the burdens of Government on other classes and vocations, and this helps to incite prejudice.

THE BIG THREE

Men of a Conspiracy to the War Management for Political Results.

There is no doubt that the administration—meaning by that the president, the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy—entered on the management of the war with Spain determined that no army or naval hero should be developed who might become a popular favorite and receive a presidential nomination in 1906. The conspiracy was directed against the soldiers and sailors of both political parties with a view that no commander by sea or land, gaining victories and acquiring the popularity with which Americans crown their heroes, should become a candidate for president in 1906. McKinley's policy in the Philippines, means an "effective" force of 20,000, after all deductions for sickness and casualties have been made. This, a few days ago, was the percentage of sickness and disability at 20 per cent, but the administration allows it now 15 percent, and it is admitted that the percentage will be increased as the rainy season progresses and that there is a small chance for recuperation in typhoid cases. As long as the president remains in the Philippines.

The work of recruiting and sending reinforcements to the Philippines is only pushed, although it is explained there is no pressing need for a large reinforcement until the close of the rainy season makes active campaigning again practicable. This explanation does not tally with previous statements that the Philippines campaign is to be carried on actively through the rainy season, the American soldiers being as well able to fight in the conditions as the Filipinos. Why take the public into confidence and tell the exact truth concerning the situation around Manila? If there is nothing urgent, why not let the right censorship of all dispatches from there? If it is necessary to send out a large army to maintain the "sovereignty of the Philippines," let the people of the United States know that the army may be raised and sent without delay. It is nearly five months since the military reinforcements have been sent. This dispatches the Philippines army and many weeks since the negotiations for its "current" conditions are in the Philippines. The greater part of the territory captured by the general's forces has been abandoned to the insurgents for lack of troops to retain possession of it.

There is a mystery about all this which the people cannot understand. If it is necessary to have a much larger force to effect the object which the government has undertaken, the sooner the fact is admitted and the increased force dispatched, the better. The policy of concealment is a poor one. Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TRUTH COMING TO LIGHT

McKinley's Philippine Policy Is Becoming a Stench in the Nostrils of the People.

Gradually the public are being brought to know something of the truth regarding the situation in the Philippines. The president is back at Washington and there is no longer an excuse for the policy of concealment. It is now known that the administration has been making a desperate effort to keep the public from knowing the truth concerning reinforcements for the Philippines. It is now given out that the 20,000 men, which the president has recently been represented as declining to be authorized for the publication of the Philippines, means an "effective" force of 20,000, after all deductions for sickness and casualties have been made. This, a few days ago, was the percentage of sickness and disability at 20 per cent, but the administration allows it now 15 percent, and it is admitted that the percentage will be increased as the rainy season progresses and that there is a small chance for recuperation in typhoid cases. As long as the president remains in the Philippines.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

—No weary is a rumor of denying the signature of Alger that letter he simply points to the mail bag, and lets it go that—Albany Argus.

—About all that can be said of the treasury is that it is not so bad as it might have been.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The office boy for the trusts has let out the fact that the octopus simply winked the other eye when he heard that Alger was to fight it off.—Chicago Record (Italy).

—If the president expects the people to have confidence in his administration he must not know anything of the people to let them know the truth.—Kansas City Times.

—Of course, Secretary Alger can't be expected for his letter for the cabinet. His plain course shows that he would feel all right in the cabinet if he had the smallest—Indiana Republic.

The remembrance of Mr. Hobart for vice president depends on how well the managers have the case of Mr. McKinley in hand. If the remembrance of the president comes, it will be easy to carry Mr. Hobart along; but if one of the states have to be won, the lack of luck for the—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The republican organization is now the most perfect political machine ever constructed in this country for national purposes. It is half-organized and splendidly equipped. So well constructed, so completely ready, that even does not now require the trained and expert hand of a connoisseur and powerful Hanna to run it. It can run itself. In fact, at this very moment it is in active operation, even though its mighty head is 3,000 miles away in Europe.—Washington Times.

—Helping on the tariff duty for protection, the tin plate trust has even made contracts with the manufacturers of black plates (used for tinning) of which Hanna lately increased high prices, and a few hundred more or less—will be let alone, because it will be found for looking through the—Chicago Record (Italy).

The trusts have passed the word to Hanna. Hanna has communicated to the trusts that the trusts have let it be known to the Washington correspondents of his newspaper monthlies. The trusts are to be fought—but in a friendly way. The trusts are not to be strangled by the republican party. The worthy ones—of which Hanna lately increased high prices, and a few hundred more or less—will be let alone, because it will be found for looking through the—Chicago Record (Italy).

HIS BATH NOT A SUCCESS.

Being in a Hurry He Forgot to Take Off His Under-clothes.

It seems her husband had been out very late celebrating, and as he came home in the early hours of the morning he thought it would be a capital idea to take a hot bath. He got into the tub, first of all and most important it would contain any wrong impression as to the fact that he had been out late at night. Women are so suspicious.

So he went fully to the bathroom and was soon splashing about as gaily as a penguin. In fact, he created such an unusual commotion that his wife woke up and went to see what was the matter.

Suddenly he saw her passing through the door with a look so cold and contemptuous that it struck a chill to his very heart. But he made a dash for the soap and went on industriously with his ablutions.

"What are you doing there, Peter?" she asked him.

He made the effort of his life to appear dejected and perfectly sober.

"I'm washing what I'm doing, my dear," he answered, with another prodigious splash.

"Don't you think it would be a good idea for you to take off your under-clothes?" she asked him, with a frozen reflection, as she passed out again—Chicago Irish Ocean.

HIS LITTLE BUNDLE.

It Wasn't Back in Star Not the Value of It Annotated the Hotel Clerk.

A quiet-looking, smooth-shaven man, with a few strands of hair from his forehead, one flash of the morning he thought it would be a capital idea to take a hot bath. ## How to Reach Two Famous Resorts.

An Outing Hint from "Gating."

Fast, safe, superbly equipped and most carefully guarded, one need not wonder at the great popularity of the New York Central. No other line affords such facilities for through travel between the East and the West as this wonderful four-track system. In the possession of the Grand Central Station, located in the heart of New York City, and within trifling distances of the great business centers, this railway offers greater advantages than competing lines. Spring, summer, autumn and winter, its attractions are irresistible. The great Northern Wisconsin, the playground of the State, now beckons its thousands. As autumn falls, America's scenic masterpiece, far from the ordinary tourist, the scenic beauty of the Wisconsin and all the picturesque surroundings, the awesome Cave of the Winds and several other minor attractions of the vicinity. And when winter comes, the icy scene transforms to what seems a fairyland of marvelous frost drawings, of ice forts and snowy palaces; of gleaming crystal grimaces, vainly striving to bind the roaring, foaming pulses of nature will present a spectacle of weird, mysterious beauty which is not duplicated in the world—Gating.
